Purpose of this Guide

The purpose of this guide is to serve as a compilation of grant opportunities available to communities and organizations. The guide also contains tips on how to effectively write grant applications and funding proposals.

Help and Support

Finding and applying for grants can be a daunting task. To help you get started or for additional information and assistance along the way, contact:

Province of Manitoba

The Community Development Branch of Municipal and Northern Relations works to strengthen community planning and development in neighborhoods, communities, and regions across Manitoba. Planning tools, facilitation, advice, and guidance are available through the Community Development Branch office in your area.

Northern Relations provides per capita funding to assist and support the planning and delivery of recreation programming in 48 Northern Affairs communities. Contact INRweb@gov.mb.ca for more information.

Recreation Manitoba

Since 1995, Recreation Manitoba (Rec MB) has been paving the way as a provincial association in providing support to recreation professionals and practitioners through education, advocacy, communication, networking, and partnerships. Our goal is to build an enabling and credible organization that benefits all recreation interests - individuals, municipalities, organizations, institutions, and business alike and are committed to enhancing the health and wellness of Manitobans. Rec MB provides a myriad of programs and services including:

- Posting and circulating job advertisements through an extensive email network and on their website.
- Networking, training, and professional development opportunities (i.e., workshops, courses, annual conference) for recreation professionals, facility managers, facility operators, front-line and seasonal staff. Training opportunities are offered year-round.

For more information, visit www.recreationmb.ca or email info@recreationmb.ca

Before you apply

Before applying for funding, make sure:

- You are clear about the purpose of your organization and the objectives of the project(s) for which funding is required.
- You have set priorities within your organization and know what projects are needed.
- Your group can carry out the project. In some cases, you may work cooperatively with another organization.
- If other groups are needed, they have agreed to participate.
- You have community support from key individuals, groups, or institutions.
- The project is feasible.
- Size and scope are appropriate for your group to carry out.
- Space, equipment, or facilities are available.
- People skills are sufficient or outside professional or support personnel are available.
- Project costs have been thoroughly researched and are current and reasonable. You are aware of all applicable authorizations and permits that will be required.

Other Considerations

- Make sure the project fits the guidelines and intent of the funding program. Match the project to the grant.
- Review the list past funded projects if available.
- When possible, prior to applying, contact the funding organization to discuss your project.
- When completing applications, answer all questions clearly and concisely; keep the answers relevant to the project.
- Submit the application on time and be sure to include all required supporting documents.
- Consider the funder's payment procedures, schedules and partial payment schedules. Evaluation reports are often essential to final funding.
- Recognition –make sure you are aware of how the funding organization would like their funding acknowledged. Check on copyrights and credits. Check where copyright of material is necessary and whose responsibility it is to get it.
- Note the decision date (if available), so you can follow up if necessary.

Preparing a Grant Application/Funding Proposal

The information contained in grant applications and funding proposals typically answers 5W + 2H questions:

- Who – Introduction/Information about the Organization?
 - Why – the rationale or reason for the project; the benefit to the community and/or the community need that is being addressed; as well as how it fits within the funding program.
 - What
 - Where
 - When
 - How
 - How Much
- } Project description/details

Whether you are filling in a grant application form or creating a funding proposal from scratch, both formats will require that you clearly communicate your purpose and project needs. Below are tips regarding the information to include in your application/proposal to help the funder understand your organization and the project and to ensure your proposal gets full consideration.

Organization Information - WHO

- Organization name – if registered or incorporated ensure that the name is as it appears on these documents. If there are aliases, ensure to communicate this.
- Purpose or mandate of the organization (aka Mission Statement). Who you are, what you do, and why you exist.
- When was the organization formed?
- Where it is located (mailing address, and physical address of the office if applicable)
- What is the structure of your organization? Is it composed of volunteers only or does it have professional staff?
- Is it a registered charity? What is its number? Is it incorporated? What is its number?
- Current programs/services/activities of your organization.
- Area/demographic served.
- What groups are affiliated with your organization?
- Provide the name, title, address, and CONTACT INFORMATION of the person to whom correspondence should be directed. This contact should be able to answer questions about the organization, the application/funding proposal, and the project.

The Opportunity - WHY

- Why are you applying for funding? This is a general introduction about your project. Is there a problem/issue that needs to be addressed? How does the project provide an opportunity/solution to the identified problem/issue/need?
- Why is this project important? Do not assume that the funder has prior knowledge of the community.
- What are the benefits in addressing the need (or opportunity)?
- What are the trends, statistics in the community? Use appropriate statistics where possible to back up your case and demonstrate your knowledge of the need.
- Why is your organization best qualified to undertake the development of the project? Identify the alignment of the project with your organization's purpose (Mission) and priorities.
- Explain how your project is different. How does the project avoid duplicating similar projects or programs run by other organizations?
- Describe how your project aligns with the funder's program objectives. Incorporate keywords from their funding criteria into your application/proposal.
- Describe the measurable benefits of the project and what the proposed funding will achieve.

Project Details & Action Plan – WHAT, WHERE, WHEN & HOW

- Outline the project – what does the project entail? What are the steps involved in the project?
- How will you accomplish these tasks? Who will carry them out?
- Timeframe of the project
- Define the scope: local community, regional, provincial, or national.
- Explain your objectives in concrete rather than general terms.
- Provide a clear and concise summary of the request. Help the funder understand the project.
- Future plans & sustainability - Describe a plan for continuing beyond the grant period and the availability of other resources necessary to implement the project. Are there future phases of the project? How will it be sustainable?

Budget - HOW MUCH

- The budget should be based on concrete research of the project costs. Seek multiple quotes for competitive costing, when and where possible.
- Clearly specify categories of expected revenues and expenditures (project costs).

- Revenues/funding source categories may include your organization’s contribution, municipal support, private funding, fundraising, other grants, etc. List other organizations/businesses supporting the project. Include a list of other potential funders that have been approached. Revenues should include both confirmed and unconfirmed sources, as well as a financial shortfall strategy. Financial shortfall strategy examples include but are not limited to increased contribution from the organization; availability of capital reserve funds; and/or access to investments or loans.
- Expense categories may include staffing, administrative, material, labor, equipment rental, and purchase of equipment.
- Describe what additional resources you will require. Identify gifts in kind (labor, equipment, and material). NOTE: Some funding programs do not allow these costs to be included in the total project costs and considered for funding reimbursement. Regardless, they need to be identified as it shows community participation and partnerships.
- If the funder requests that financial statements be included with your application, provide explanations regarding any deficits or surplus.
 - Deficits – were extenuating circumstances that contributed to the deficit position? Do you have a plan to cover the deficit?
 - Surplus – are these funds allocated to specific projects or a reserve fund?

How funders make their decisions

Below are potential reasons funding applications are approved or declined.

Private Sector

Why they support

- The project aligns with the guidelines established for funding or providing services.
- The project has something to offer funders, such as advertising.
- The project will improve the supporting company's image within the community.
- The project will involve employees from the supporting company.

Why they do not support

- The organization is not eligible. Some funding providers require that organization be incorporated or a registered charity; or have other restrictions on the types of organizations that are eligible. Be sure to read the funding guidelines carefully.
- Application or ‘the approach’ to the funding organization was inappropriate.
- The funder prefers to give to general charities such as the United Way. Many businesses fear that contributing to a certain cause or group could alienate another sector.
- The company has already allocated its budget for sponsorship.
- The funder has specific areas/priorities that they support, and the project does not fall into any of their priorities.

Public Sector

Why they support

- The project fits within the mandate of the funding program.
- The project aligns closely into policy as laid out by the department.
- The project is local, regional, provincial, national, or international, and not only for that group (community benefit)
- The proposal contains a detailed application and budget.
- Previous projects/events were successful.
- The group and its activities are open to the public.

Why they do not support

- The applicant (organization) is not eligible.
- The project is not eligible.
- Concern for the organization's ability to carry out the project.
- The application is incomplete or lacks details.
- The project appears to be poorly planned.
- The application is late.
- The funding organization is oversubscribed and unable to fund all eligible projects.

Moving forward

The intent of any grant application or funding proposal is to provide the funder with an overview of the organization and enough details about the project so they have a clear picture of what you want to achieve and how you plan to achieve it. Identifying how the project aligns with the funder's priorities will create a connection between the outcomes of your project and the funder's priorities/cause/purpose.

Organizational and project planning are essential prior to seeking funding opportunities.

"If you want to go quickly, go alone. If you want to go far, go together." - African Proverb
